The Art and Science of Donor Development (ASDD)
A Virtual and Distance Learning Experience

This four-part workshop is ideal for seasoned professionals and newer development staff alike, as a powerful means of connecting to the heart of philanthropy. During four 3.5-hour sessions, participants will join an interactive web platform where they can explore the groundbreaking concepts in a facilitator-led, virtual classroom. Discover a donor-centered process for facilitating engagement that leads to commitment to targeted organisational priorities through group discussions, video case studies, pre-work assignments, and opportunities for post-workshop action planning.

Advancement Resources' training content is derived from proprietary research and intense, in-depth interviews and observations among top development professionals, academic and medical leaders, and major donors.

Structure

Classroom Engagements
Participants will attend four 3.5-hour sessions in a real-time virtual classroom. This experience features networking opportunities, application exercises, and interactive facilitator support.

Sessions are scheduled for each individual workshop offering, with four sessions taking place over a one-week period. Participants in each cohort should be prepared to attend all sessions, as this is not a webinar, and interactivity is essential to the success of the experience.

Pre- and Post-Work Assignments
Prior to the workshop, participants will be asked to complete a pre-work assignment. Additionally, participants have the opportunity to create and complete additional application exercises.

Technical Requirements
Participants should use the Adobe Connect application, following download instructions as prompted from the web browser of their choice. Participants should be prepared to use speakers, a microphone, and a consistent Wi-Fi connection.

To learn specific technical requirements, participants will receive a technical guide as part of their pre-work package.
